

Labelling & Shipping

When shipping to Amazon, you have 3 options:

1. Shipping directly to Amazon
2. Shipping to your home and then forwarding to Amazon
3. Shipping to a 3rd party intermediary

Option 1 – Shipping directly to Amazon

From overseas:

- Cannot ship directly to Amazon in Europe (unless supplier can offer DDP)
- Cannot ship directly to Amazon in Canada (unless supplier can offer DDP)
- CAN ship directly to Amazon in the US
- Shipping should be arranged via your supplier
- Air express using FEDEX/DHL/UPS only
- Supplier needs to affix the barcode to each unit (UPC or FNSKU)
- Create the incoming shipment in order to get the FBA Shipping Labels
- Supplier needs to put the FBA Shipping Labels on the box/s

NOTE: You cannot ship directly to Amazon from Aliexpress or Zentrada because none of the prep work will have been done. You can only ship directly to Amazon from Alibaba, or from suppliers who DO prep for Amazon.

Domestic shipping:

- CAN ship directly to any Amazon
- Shipping should be arranged through seller central (select Amazon's partnered carrier when creating the incoming shipment)

- Supplier needs to affix the barcode to each unit (UPC or FNSKU)
- Supplier needs to put the FBA Shipping Labels on the box/s

Option 2 - Shipping to your home and then forwarding to Amazon

From overseas:

- Shipping to your home should be arranged via your supplier
- Air express using FEDEX/DHL/UPS only
- Affix the FNSKU over the top of any existing bar code on the units
- Create the incoming shipment in order to get the shipping labels
- Put the FBA shipping labels on the box/s

Domestic shipping:

- Shipping to your home should be arranged via your supplier
- Affix the FNSKU over the top of any existing bar code on the units
- Create the incoming shipment in order to get the shipping labels
- Put the FBA shipping labels on the box/s

Option 3 - Shipping to a 3rd party intermediary

From overseas:

- Shipping should be arranged via your supplier
- Air express using FEDEX/DHL/UPS only
- FBAInspection is the most popular service for the US
- Once your inventory is ready, you will use Amazon's partnered carrier to have it shipped to Amazon

Domestic shipping:

- Shipping should be arranged via your supplier
- FBAInspection is the most popular service for the US
- Once your inventory is ready, you will use Amazon's partnered carrier to have it shipped to Amazon

When using a 3rd party intermediary to prep and forward your inventory to FBA, follow their guidelines/tutorials. They will have a process in place for you to follow. If you are looking for a 3rd party service anywhere else than the US, do your research on Google to find out what's available for your chosen country. If there are multiple companies to choose from, compare prices and look online for reviews. See more in the lecture on using a 3rd party prep company.

Getting the FNSKU labels

You can download the FNSKU labels when creating the incoming shipment, or you can simply go to 'Manage Inventory' and select 'Print Labels' from the drop down 'Edit' function.

After clicking 'print item labels', the A4 sheet of labels will download as a PDF which you can email to your supplier, to a 3rd party intermediary company, or print off for your own use

Remember that you always need to affix the FNSKU labels over the top of any existing barcode that may be present on your units.

4. Shipping labels

You have requested to change the number of boxes for your shipment.

Please be aware that when changing the number of boxes in your shipment, you are required to reprint labels to ensure each box has a unique label.

of boxes Paper type

4 3-1/3" X 4" (US Letter)

Print box labels

Each box label is unique. Make sure to print all box labels. Learn more

Work on another shipment

Delete shipment

Duplicate

There is a label for each box, but each label has a different number on it. Therefore you cannot duplicate one label for multiple boxes. If your supplier is going to be putting the shipping labels on the boxes, make sure he knows that each label is unique.
